According to the AMA, chronic pain is the most common reason for doctor visits. Even though the regular use of NSAID's are known to cause liver and kidney damage, as well as gastrointestinal bleeding, billions of doses are taken every year.

You may have seen a recent segment of "60 Minutes" about a root called Turmeric, which is being studied for its use with chronic conditions such as arthritis pain. A highly-effective natural pain reliever, Turmeric is the main ingredient in a supplement called "Curamin", which contains not only a highly-absorbable form of Turmeric, but also DLPA, a pain-relieving amino acid and Boswellia, an anti-inflammatory herb from India.

Clinical research studies show that the Turmeric used in "Curamin" has 10-times the absorption rate of the standard form, helps to better regulate pain-causing inflammation and has no toxicity or dangerous side effects. There's an extra-strength formula, as well.

As always, we guarantee your satisfaction.
